Tips to prepare and be safe during hurricane season.

Before Hurricane Season:

Create a Family Emergency Plan:

Determine evacuation routes and destinations.

Establish a communication plan with family members.

Assign responsibilities for each family member.

Build an Emergency Kit:

Include non-perishable food, water, medications, first aid supplies, flashlight, batteries, important documents, cash, and hygiene items.

Secure Your Home:

Reinforce windows and doors or install storm shutters.

Trim trees and shrubs to reduce potential debris.

Check and secure your roof.

Review Insurance Coverage:

Make sure your home and belongings are adequately insured.

Stay Informed:

Sign up for local alerts and warnings.

Monitor weather forecasts and updates.

Who Needs Renters Insurance?

Anyone who rents an apartment, condo, townhome, or other type of dwelling should seriously consider getting renters insurance. Renters insurance covers a tenant's personal property if it's damaged or destroyed during a break-in, a storm, or another event specified in the policy. In addition, renters insurance provides coverage for personal liability and medical bills if you have a guest over and they're injured. Finally, if there's a fire or other catastrophic event that forces you to move out of your unit, renters insurance will cover your extra living expenses, such as hotel bills and meals out.
